NOTES & ADDENDA

Sample clearance, work-for-hire terms, buyout details, or additional writers on a continuation sheet.

A split sheet lists everyone who wrote this song and their agreed percentage share of the writer's copyright. Sign it before release: without one, royalty registrations can stall and sync licensing deals can fall through. This document is a record of the agreement between the writers named above and is not legal advice; consider having it reviewed by a music lawyer for high-value or complex splits.
